

About Surat City

Surat, is a port city previously known as Suryapur. It is the economical capital and former princely state in the Indian state of Gujarat. It is the eighth largest city in India. Surat is the 3rd "cleanest city of India", and 4th fastest growing city of the world. Surat is famous for its food.

Surat had a population of 4.5 million at the 2011 census, making it the second largest city in the state of Gujarat, after Ahmedabad. Surat is a major hub of diamond cutting and polishing. Surat is known as diamond heart of the world. Since it is known for producing textiles, including silk, Surat is known as the textile hub of the nation or the Silk City of India. It is very famous for its cotton mills and SuratZari Craft. Surat is the biggest centre of MMF (man-made fibre) in India.

Surat is known for its relaxed lifestyle and its cuisine. An old saying in Gujarati, "Surat nu Jaman ane Kashinu Maran", means "Eat in Surat and Die in Kashi" to have the best for one's soul.

About MANLIBNET

Management Libraries Network (MANLIBNET) was established in the year 1998 and was registered as a Society under societies Registration Act of 1860 in the year 2000. It is a movement for sharing of resources and information among the libraries by fostering a spirit of cooperation and weaving them together in a networking arrangement. The main objectives of MANLIBNET are to provide a common forum to the professionals; and to develop understanding and cooperation particularly among management and business libraries for resource sharing. The first national convention was held in 1998 at Indian Institute of Management, Ahmedabad (IIMA). This was followed by a series of conferences and seminars at various places including JIM-Noida TAPMI, EDI-Gandhinagar, IIML, IIMK, XLRI, University of Delhi, ICSSR, IMT, Ghaziabad etc. The network has so far organized thirteen national conventions.

About LDP

MANLIBNET initiated Librarian Development Programmes, i.e., LDPs for Librarians, Knowledge Managers and Information Professional community in the year 2008. MANLIBNET strongly believes that such LDPs would help. The course work of LDP is designed in a manner that provides a unique opportunity to the participants in developing their expertise in managing various library systems and services. Ultimately such programmes would help the LIS professionals to perform their duties effectively in their respective places of work. Till now the network has organized LDPs at Surat, Ghaziabad, Greater Noida, Rajkot, Vadodara and Pune.

About LDP at SPB

These days, technology is so heavily ingrained in our day-to-day lives, we don't even think twice about it. This reliance on technology has drastically changed the way young people engage with information; they expect immediate answers and an overwhelming breadth of resources in which to find them. It is becoming increasingly clear that visual mediums and interactive programmes are preferred by tech-savvy students.

Advances in computer applications during the past few decades have brought radical changes in the way information is gathered, store, organized, accessed, retrieved and consumed. The application of computers in information processing has brought several products and services to the scene. The Internet and the Web are constantly influencing the development of new modes of scholarly communication.

Libraries have witnessed a great metamorphosis in recent years both in their collection development and in their service structure. Over the last several years, a significant transformation has been noticed in collection development policies and practices. Print medium is increasingly giving way to the electronic form of materials.
